Judit Schneider - Electrolux intern in Brazil from Hungary

AIESEC Experience: MC Hungary 02-03, MC New Zealand 03-04, Global XQB Chair

My role

“The role of the HR department in Curitiba was to implement and supervise main HR processes, like recruitment, training and development, compensation, benefits, international assignments and so on at Electrolux in Brazil.

My main project was related to international assignments. I designed an on-line guide for both out- and inbound expatriates of Brazil, in order to make their preparation and stay in their host countries much easier.

In my own words...

Finding the balance between respecting the current practices and integrate into them, but at the same time, still be a catalyst for changes; performing and being recognized for my ideas and results in a different working environment; meeting new people and enjoying the south-american lifestyle – added up to a truly unforgettable time in my life.

Why Electrolux?

A multinational corporation with a strong customer focus, believing in innovation, promoting geographical and functional mobility were just few of the concepts that appealed to me about Electrolux.

Moreover, I enjoy the culture of high level of autonomy and that I can take ownership of my ideas and realize them.

Currently...

Currently I am working in HR Group Staff and Functions in Stockholm, giving HR support to Communication and Branding, Legal Affairs, Finance, Global Purchasing and HR departments globally.

The diverse set up of my job role ensures, that while enjoying the Swedish working culture, I develop a firm knowledge on core HR processes, which is essential for a career in HR Management.”
